Latest from the Convention.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Heavy rain and wind storm delayed assembly of Convention. Owen, of Ky., temporary Chairman and Wilson, of W. Va., to be permanent Chairman. Convention adjourned until tomorrow 11 o'clock. General belief that Cleveland will be nominated without material opposition. Resolutions of sympathy for Jas. G. Blaine passed with great cheering.

No Disturbance to Business Interests.

The fall in wheat at Chicago, the price having gone down 10 cents within a week, is attributed not alone to the favorable government crop reports, showing a larger area in wheat than ever before, but to the fact that the nomination of Harrison, insuring that of Grover Cleveland, makes probable a calm and dispassionate canvass, with little disturbance to business interests. This has calmed down the speculators in control of the wheat market. With a big wheat crop this year in America and a fair one in Europe, prices will probably go pretty low. So says an exchange.

The Encampment of the Old Veterans.

The old Confederate veterans who were in camp at Wrightsville last summer, will be glad to learn that the pleasure may be repeated this summer. Col. E. D. Hall is working in their behalf. The Review says that "Col. Hall has received all the assistance from the State authorities that it is possible for them to furnish for this purpose and from the railroads will receive generous encouragement, and has besides assurances of help from some outside the State, but his chief reliance will be upon our citizens, and this week he will send canvassers over the city to ascertain what can be done in the way of receiving aid. If enough money or supplies can be raised, it is intended to make this encampment one of the grandest gatherings ever assembled in the Old North State."

Carolina Collar and Harness Co.

This Company has an advertisement in this issue. Mr. P. McWilliams is the manager; he is one of the finest harness makers in the State. They carry a line of shoe uppers and shoe findings, trunks &c. They are prepared to make shoes to order; fine harness a specialty. When in need of anything in their line don't fail to give them a trial.

During a storm at Hickory yesterday evening, lightning struck the house of Mr. O. A. Sigmon while three of his small children were seated on a trunk near the window. Two were instantly killed, while the one in the middle sustained only a slight shock.

Rev. H. T. Hudson, pastor of the Shelby Circuit Methodist Church and corresponding editor of the Raleigh Christian Advocate, died at Morganton early yesterday morning. He was 99 years of age.

Cheerfulness in the Morning Influences the Day.

The household that gets up in a disturbance is not the one likely to have a happy day. The remembrance of the morning cloud will linger and is likely to darken the sunshine for twelve hours at least.

A good beginning rarely makes a bad ending and the day begun with cheerfulness leaves a pleasant impression even when many other days have come and gone.

The demeanor of the morning is the keynote of the entire day. The bright faces, pleasant chat of the breakfast table is the corner stone on which the acts and words of the working hours fall back to rest.

Do not bring your troubles and vexations to the breakfast table. If servants worry or children annoy reserve complaint until another time, and do not spoil the fresh morning hours by a recital of domestic difficulties that cannot be bettered for so doing.

An atmosphere of serenity and sunshine pervading the home before and during the first meal of the day will send a man out fresher and more capable of meeting outside worries than if his shoulders had already been burdened by tales of woe.

What is termed getting out of bed wrong is frequently but a contrary beginning that tangles up the affairs of the whole day. The child who has to be corrected and sent away from the breakfast table is the one to get into worse scrapes throughout the day. The note of discord has turned his music all to inharmonious clashing, and he does not care how badly he behaves after the first stumbling block has made the way hard to travel.

Let everyone, old and young, try to acquire an unruffled calm for the morning hours at least. Let the father carry to his business pleasant recollections of the happy little circle he left behind. Let the children remember mother's smile and mother's kiss when the intricacies of arithmetic or grammar make life a hard and trying uphill journey, and give to the kitchen a word of encouragement rather than begin the day with fault finding that knocks all the disposition to try out of her.

Varieties of Men.

This town is not so small that it does not afford some interesting studies of the varieties of men to be found on earth. It is however too small for it to be possible to analyze them very closely in print, for fear of placing a label, "this is so-and so," upon each descriptive picture, however carefully it might be drawn with the idea of avoiding personality.

Still it is undoubtedly true that the types of character shown by men in this town cover as wide a range as can be imagined. It has those who have the welfare of the whole community at heart and would do anything in their power to advance it; those whose hand and purse are always ready to assist anything, or person, with merit in them, and it as certainly contains those who are so essentially selfish that they use the means they possess, only to oppress and to repress, anything and everything out of which they do not get the lion's share; men, if they deserve the name, so wrapped up in their own narrow selves, that they look with delight upon the crushing of anything on which they have not secured a lien that will net them cent. per cent.

It were easy to give instances of both of these classes, with resultant benefit and evil respectively, showing how each has helped—or marred—the town, but the purpose of this editorial is not to "label men," but merely to note the difference in their "variety," and to direct public notice to the fact that there are those who cannot point to a single act of their lives—favored as they have been by fortune—which had in it "the milk of human kindness," or was not in the nature of a speculation, with big collateral pledged to secure their pocket books from loss.

The existence of the other class alluded to, does not need to be asserted; too many bear daily witness to the "helping hand" that has been extended to them by its members, in hours that looked "darker than Egypt," for it to require newspaper mention to bear out the truth. They will meet their reward both here and hereafter, if there be truth in the idea that men are but stewards of that with which Providence blessed them are judged, in the world to come, by the manner in which they execute their stewardship.

NORTH CAROLINA NOTES.

Recording Seven Deaths From Different Causes.

B. F. Tipton, editor of the Mount Holly News, died yesterday morning, aged about 35. Leaves a wife and two children.

A negro on Saturday evening insulted the wife of Lewis Klutz, white, living seven miles from Salisbury. The people are indignant and are looking for him.

Capt. C. M. McLoud, one of the most prominent lawyers of Western Carolina, and a member of the legislature in 1888, died at Asheville yesterday afternoon.

J. E. Newsom, aged about 30, was drowned near Lexington yesterday afternoon while seining. He became entangled in the sein.

The rock wall of a well at Lenoir fell in on Lee Corpening, colored, yesterday morning. It formed an arch at a depth of thirty feet from the top which protected Corpening. After eight hours of hard work he was rescued alive.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutch upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed eminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. U. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C.—Get a free trial bottle at Blackbills & Sons.

Death of Miss Mackay. Miss Rena Mackay who has had charge of the nursery department at Thompson's Orphanage, died yesterday morning at 5 o'clock. Miss Mackay had just returned a few weeks ago from a trip to Florida, where she had hoped to be benefited by a change of climate. Her condition not being improved she returned home and has since her arrival, been gradually growing weaker, until yesterday morning death came to the relief of the sufferer. Miss Mackay was 22 years old, and was a niece of Miss Mackay the matron of the orphanage.—Charlotte News.

Miss Mackay is a niece of Mr. J. J. Mackay, of this city, and his daughter, Miss Mary Mackay, has been at the bedside of her cousin for the past two weeks.

For Bilious Attacks

heartburn, sick headache, and all disorders of the stomach, liver, and bowels,

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

are the safest, surest, and most popular medicine for family use.

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co. Lowell, Mass.

In keeping pace with this enterprising age in all kinds of business, people have to be constantly introducing new methods. Shining a fellow's shoes and cooling his palate at the same time is the latest method adopted to draw trade by a Philadelphia Italian boot-black. With each five cent shine he gives away a dab of ice cream on a sheet of paper.

To Cleanse the System

Effectually yet gently, when costive bilious or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers, use Syrup of Figs.

WHEN you see a man unmercifully walloping his beast, you can form a pretty correct idea of how he would treat human beings if he had them in his power.

Help in Time of Need.

When a man is drowning he will grasp at straws, but straws will not save him. Extend to him a life-belt and his rescue is certain.

Mr. James A. Greer, of Athens, Ga. (endorsed by the editor of the Athens Banner-Watchman) makes the following statement:

"I am first cousin of the late ex-Governor Alexander H. Stephens, and have been postal clerk on different railroads since 1868. For ten years I have been a sufferer from a cancer on my face which grew worse until the discharge of matter became profuse and very offensive. I became thoroughly disgusted with blood purifiers and pronounced them humbugs, as I had tried many without relief."

Finally I was induced to use Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) The offensive discharge decreased at once and the hardness disappeared. It became less and less in size until nothing remains except a scar. I gained flesh and strength, and all who have seen me bear testimony. I cannot say too much in its praise."
